Front-End Developer Angular | React js

Abū Kabīr, Sharkia, Egypt

Summary

I have contributed to various projects, enhancing my skills in front-end development, particularly with Angular. My approach focuses on adhering to best practices like SOLID principles, KISS, and DRY, ensuring clean, efficient, and maintainable code. I am experienced in object-oriented programming (OOP) and always strive to follow development standards that simplify complex tasks.

I have worked extensively on creating professional UIs, implementing state management with RxJS, and adopting reactive programming practices. Currently, I am deepening my knowledge of NGRX to manage state in large-scale Angular applications.

In addition to front-end development, I have the ability to manipulate data efficiently, applying modern JavaScript techniques such as ECMAScript 6 to ensure dynamic and smooth user experiences.

I am also expanding my expertise into back-end development, focusing on Java, particularly Spring Boot, to broaden my capabilities in building full-stack applications. My goal is to continuously learn and implement modern techniques to create robust and scalable solutions.
